As published in today's Federal Register, the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR) has issued a third round of product exclusions from the first list of Chinese products subject to 25% additional duties under Section 301. These exclusions are in addition to the first round of product exclusions announced in December and the second round announced in March.

The latest USTR Notice provides relief from these 25% additional duties for 21 product descriptions. The 21 product-specific descriptions include a variety of products, such as certain roller machines, continuous action elevators and conveyors, parts of mechanical awnings, goods handling apparatus for fork lifts, pressure regulators, aluminum pipe brackets, ball bearings ($\leq 30\text{mm}$), and instruments for checking voltage and electrical connections. Clients should check the attached list to review the specific products.

These product exclusions may be used by any importers of products meeting the descriptions. The exclusions apply retroactively back to the July 6 implementation of the additional duties and prospectively for 1 year from the publication of this Notice in the Federal Register.
